National Good Governance Day Celebrations (25 December Every Year):

Good Governance Day is a day of national importance in India observed annually on the 25th December, the birth anniversary of former Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee. Good Governance Day was established in 2014 to honor Prime Minister Vajpayee by fostering awareness among the Indian people of accountability in government.

Good Governance is about the processes for making and implementing decisions. It's not about making 'correct' decisions, but about the best possible process for making those decisions.

Objectives of the National Good Governance Day are as follows:

- ❖ To re-engineering of the government processes in order to provide an “open and accountable administration” in the country.
- ❖ Good governance day is celebrated to make people aware about the government commitment for providing a transparent and accountable administration in the country.
- ❖ It is celebrated to enhance the welfare and betterment of the common citizens in India.
- ❖ It is celebrated to standardize the government functioning as well as make it a highly effective and accountable governance for the Indian people.
- ❖ It is celebrated to implement the good and effective policies to complete a mission of good governance in India.
- ❖ It is celebrated to make government officials aware of their work, internal processes and work with full commitment.
- ❖ To enhance the growth and development in the country through good governance.
- ❖ To bring citizens closer to the government to make them active participants in the good governance process.

In delivering good governance at the grassroots level, the Academy of Grassroots Studies and Research of India is organising the National Good Governance Day Celebrations every year on 25th December, in achieving the inclusive growth through inclusive governance in contemporary India.
